WE MADE OUR MARK

We all make different marks each day whether we realize it or not. Throughout the yearbook, we reflect on different kinds of marks that are made and how they can effect us. Many marks were made this year throughout the world, the nation, and throughout our school. The 24th Olympic Games were held in Seoul, Korea where each nation left their own marks in their best events.

Millions of marks were made on voting ballots in the '88 election November 8th. The majority were for George Bush, who will continue to make his mark on American lives.

The Space Shuttle Discovery lifted off on the morning of September 29, 1988. Remembering the haunting explosion of the Challenger in 1986, this successful launch will leave a mark in people's memories.

HAPPY 30TH ANNIVERSARY!

Nebraska Christian made its mark in history, as this is the 30th year of high school education. It marks the dedication, hard work, and prayer that so many people have contributed to N.C. to make it what it is today. Only through the Lord's leading and guidance will Nebraska Christian continue to make a difference in the lives of young people in years to come.

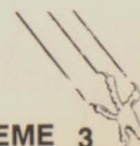

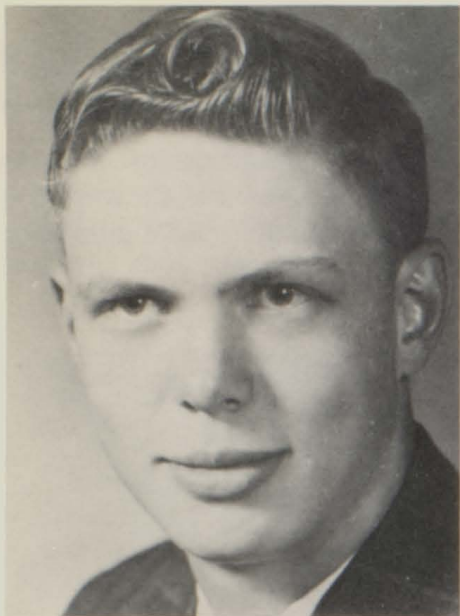

We as students mark our own individuality by the achievements we made in the 1989 school year. We will forever go through life making and leaving our marks in the world, in our work, and in other's lives as well as our own.

Socials, detentions, class parties, sports; these are the things that will make it easy for us to reflect on this school year and remember

THE MARK WE MADE

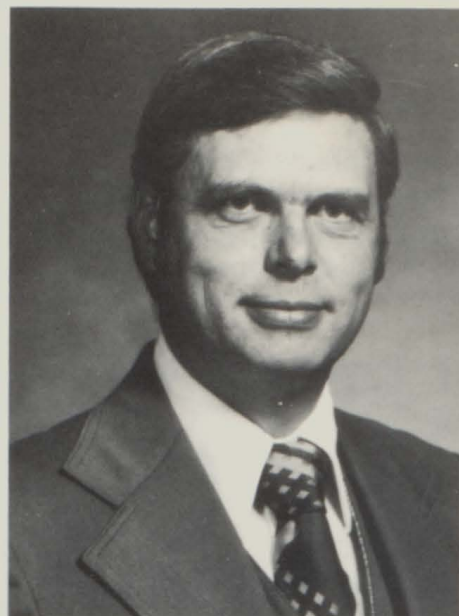

... And you think 12 years in school is a long time! Imagine being here at Nebraska Christian for 30 years. That's what it has been for

HAROLD KAY SAWYER

It's been 30 years of love, patience, and dedication to God. You'd think teaching high schoolers for that long would get old and drab — wouldn't you?

You've seen Mr. Sawyer leading the choir, but if you thought that's all he has done around here, you're mistaken. He has a variety of talents that he uses throughout the school. He's done electrical work, construction work on building projects; he's wired in telephones, taught Bible, band, and choir ... and the list goes on. Like Mr. Musgrave stated, "He's basically our handyman around the school. If something needs doing, he can usually do it."

Mr. Sawyer didn't have any "big vision" about coming to N.C. when it first started in the fall of 1959. With the school just beginning, he felt the Lord opened a way and wanted him here, and so did the people. Okay, but stay here for 30 years? When asked why he has stayed so long, he replied with only that one-of-a-kind smile, "Because they haven't kicked me out yet." In all seriousness, he says it still feels good to be here, and thinks it is what the Lord and people want.

The biggest change from earlier years of the school to now is that when it first started, 95% or more of the students were dorm students—the rest were faculty's kids. It was basically a 24 hour schedule, 7 days a week. Supervised study halls were held in the library Monday-Thursday nights. On the weekends the staff would take turns cooking meals for about half of the students that didn't go home.

Three generations of Sawyer involvement with the school. Mr. Ralph Sawyer, long time prayer warrior and supporter; H.K. Sawyer; and Duane, 1980 graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer were also Jr. High and girls' dorm parents from 1959 to 1966. Mr. Sawyer commented, "It's a BIG job. We had about 52 girls. It was a full-time job, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week."

The rules haven't changed much in the past 30 years. "In 30 years lifestyles of the evangelical Christian have changed. When the school first started, it was strictly forbidden for anyone to go to the theatre. None of the faculty were allowed to have T.V. Most of the changes have come about because not everyone is on campus now. When there were 150 students here 24 hours a day, you had to have stricter rules, and you had to keep track of everyone because it was like one big family. There just had to be some sort of organization."

When asked what he appreciates most about N.C., he replied, "The kids. It's a remarkable thing to work with this many Christian kids."

The 1989 Reflector Staff dedicates this yearbook to Mr. H.K. Sawyer for his faithful contribution and worthy example as a godly man.

WE LOVE YOU MR. SAWYER !

Too Many Marks

The administration plays a big role in the lives of the students at N.C. With the 11:1 student-teacher ratio, students become easily acquainted with the teachers. The marks left by the teacher's daily example and classroom instruction will make a big impact, even to those students who think the teachers give "too many marks."

WE LEFT OUR MARK . . .

The summertime always seems to fly by before we know it. There will always be the memories of what we did throughout our summer, and this page is here to reawaken those memories and share what some students spent their summer doing.

IN DENVER . . .

A National Youth Conference was held July 4-8 in Denver, Colorado. N.C. students attending were: Joanna Schmidt, Jennie Pizzolato, Amy Ferris, Kristen Klein, Nicole Kai, Kim Wells, Sam Cameron, and Beth Long.

The 5,000 teenagers who attended were involved in such activities as door to door evangelism, downtown musical outreach, and ministries in hospitals and rest homes. Josh McDowell, Buster Soaries, Ron Hutchcraft, and Dave Busby were among the favored speakers. Kenny Marks, Geoff Moore, and Pat Hurley were featured at the concert at Red Rocks Amphitheater.

We were encouraged to share 'HIS-STORY' as we 'made history' in our own parts of the world, and to go M.A.D. (Make A Difference) for Jesus. It was a week that will never be forgotten and a great experience for those who attended. The impact of the entire week was so overwhelming, it is hard to describe it in words. If you ever have a chance to go to a youth conference like this, I really encourage you to do so.

IN AUSTRIA . . . IN OUR JOBS . . .

Niki Wagner, a senior, made her mark in Austria this summer. She and another friend, Dina, spent June 17-August 10 in Vienna and Salsberg, Austria. She was a nanny for a family who was involved in Campus Crusade for Christ Ministry of Kearney, Ne. Niki, Dina, and other college students would get together and do beach witnessing and outreach. She saw where "The Sound Of Music" was filmed, saw a Mozart concerto, and visited the Fortress in Salsberg. Talking to Russians, Romanians, Poles and Germans broadened her knowledge of communist countries.

"After being at N.C. I learned not to take my parents for granted. When I was in Austria, I didn't get mail or phone calls from friends or family for two months. I learned to depend on God for everything more than ever before, and the friendships I had became more real and important to me. I learned how great we really do have it in America and how I've taken it for granted. Another big lesson I learned was how we Americans think it is such a 'big sacrifice' to accept Jesus as our Savior because of peer pressure from friends. In the communist countries, if one becomes a Christian, it's a matter of life and death, acceptance into a university, or even getting food."

The majority of the students spent their summer working for their parents on farms, ranches, or other jobs. Some spent their time working at Pizza Hut, Burger King, Perkins, Hy-Vee, Ace Hardware, and Conoco, while others worked as counselors at camps, babysat, detasseled or rogued in beanfields.

All work and no fun? Not really. Even though there's usually not much time for extra things plus a job, some students remarked that they went swimming, layed out (fun?), or went out with friends for entertainment. All in all, it was an eventful summer, one not to be forgotten.

Still Making The Mark

Underclassmen are still "making the mark" as they strive to better themselves each passing year. Opportunities arise each day to improve the marks they make as they interact with fellow students, complete work jobs and homework, and participate in sports.

WE ASKED . . .

HOW MUCH TIME DO YOU REALLY SPEND DOING HOMEWORK EACH NIGHT??

The highest majority was 19%, spending 30 minutes to one hour each day on homework. Nine percent of you said you don't even DO homework.

The most widely used Bible versions were the King James and the New International versions.

Tennis shoes were more popular than cowboy boots. Would YOU be caught dead wearing cowboy boots? Eighteen percent of the student body said they'd prefer cowboy boots instead of tennis shoes!!!!

The most favored classes were the Computer-Science-Math category. Shop & Home-Ec. ran a close second.

Final Mark 1989

As our senior year draws to a close, we realize we are about to reach the "Final Mark". We look ahead into the future with great anticipation, excited for harder challenges and newer opportunities, but the thought of leaving friends is met with hesitation. The memories of our high school fun and friends will last a lifetime, as will the education.

Senior Sneak 1989

Our Senior Sneak was great, but too short. We enjoyed skiing, shopping, group times, and of course the excellent food! Our class had tons of fun, and it was a growing experience.

Our guest speaker, Bryan Clark, from Broken Bow, spoke on love and commitment. We had a blast getting to know him during the week. He was great!

Marks In Life

Banquets, dorm life, and chapels provide a relaxing escape from normal school pressures. The creative additions to scholastic life give students an opportunity to make "Marks in Life" now, as well as preparing them socially for the future.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Being a member of the student council consists of planning social events for the student body. Two to three representatives are elected from each class. One of the biggest events this year was the Homecoming social. A wiener roast, hay rack ride & concert by Joni Karns of Lincoln were enjoyed by all. The student council wishes to thank Mr. Ellefson for all his work as sponsor.

Homecoming '88

Homecoming week was filled with excitement and fun. During the week student attire ranged from toddlers to old folks. The week ended with the crowning of the king and queen. The candidates were: Dorothy Jordan, Dennis Fling, Niki Wagner, Jimmy Wolfenden, Jennie Pizzolato, and Tim Pearson. The crown bearers were Rachel Kaiser and Caleb Merchant. Niki Wagner was chosen as queen and Dennis Fling was chosen as king.

NEWS & SUCH . . .

TRAGEDY AND TERROR ON PAN AM FLIGHT 103-
Pan Am's flight 103 from London to New York exploded in midair during the week of Christmas. Bits and pieces of the plane, and 258 passengers rained over the little Scottish town of Lockerbie. The cause of the tragic explosion was thought to be a terrorist bombing. Controversy arose when the public found out there had been a phone call on Dec. 5 threatening there'd be a bomb within the next two weeks. Probably the worst victims were the friends and families who mourned over the sudden loss. Even through the joy and celebration of Christmas, this bitter twist of fate rang loud and clear.

SUPER BOWL XXIII-
On January 22, 1989, the San Fransisco 49ers were victorious over the Cincinnati Bengals. A highlight of the Super Bowl was the 3-D halftime special sponsored by Coca-Cola.

BICENTENNIAL-
April 30, 1989, the nation commemorates the bicentennial of George Washington's inauguration as the first U.S. president.

NEW ROYAL BABY-
The Duke and Duchess of York welcomed a new arrival, Beatrice Elizabeth Mary, on August 8, 1988.

PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION-
The race for the Presidency between Governor Michael Dukakis and Vice President George Bush was won by George Bush November 7. He took office January 20, 1989.

THE ANTI-ABORTIONISTS' STRUGGLE-
Thousands of anti-abortionists, forming a crusade known as the "rescue-movement", blocked entrances to abortion clinics. Many Christians were arrested for violating the law by trespassing and hindering abortionists' businesses. Many of the occurrences were in Atlanta, Georgia. James Kennedy, James Dobson and Jerry Falwell were among those who helped endorse the movement.

... break for chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hofrichter from Wood River, Ne., shared with the students and staff their singing, story telling and saw-playing talent. Their old-fashioned style of love was radiant, and at the end of chapel everyone received a recycled Christmas card.

Dr. Charles Lynch from Kansas City was the speaker for Spiritual emphasis week held January 9-13. His unique style of speaking, joking and teaching really caught the students' attention. He related well to the teenagers and took time out to speak to anyone who needed to talk or had a problem. His enthusiasm was greatly appreciated, and we look forward to hearing from him again.

It's time for chapel, so find your seat. Chapel time gave the students a time to listen to an outside speaker or a faculty member share about their ministry, work, or just words from the Bible. Some chapel guests included: Dr. & Mrs. Lazarus Seruyange, from Kenya, East Africa; Reach Out Singers, from Sioux Falls, S.D; John Barcus, missionary to Muslims in England; Teresa Coleman, with Covenant Players; Diane Johnson, Youth With A Mission; Rev. Gil Larsen, Central City; and Pastor Rick Rehmer, Mamre Free Church.

Spiritual emphasis speaker September 6-9 was James Jost from Omaha. His knowledge of the Bible and how his life reflected Christ was one of the many things learned about him throughout the week. His humor and sensitivity to teenager's needs made it easy for the students to open up to him and listen to what he had to say. The week was fun, as well as a time of learning new things.

Pastor Bob Timberlake came to us from Omaha. He is the Executive Director/Pastor from the Open Door Mission for the homeless. He shared about the thousands of homeless people in America today and his burden for them. As a result, the student body decided to donate canned goods and toys for homeless children for this year's Christmas project.

Marks for the Future

Music, drama, and the chance to be a class officer can provide some really great experiences. The lessons of leadership and patience these extra-curricular activities teach are an excellent help in making our "Marks For The Future".

LOOK WHO PUT YOUR YEARBOOK TOGETHER!!!

It takes a lot of time, energy and patience to put a yearbook together. Taking pictures, drawing layouts, cropping, measuring, and putting things on the computer were a few of the things that had to be done. There were four deadlines throughout the year, and it always seemed we had to cram all the work into one week because we kept putting it off. Nevertheless, all of it was a learning and challenging experience, and a BLAST to be a part of. RIGHT??!! Yearbook staff members, pictured left to right, back row: Jody Hower, Cole Price, Brian Swanson, Kirk Nelson, Julie Kremer. Front row: Chad Jividen, co-Assistant Editor; Lynn Bingley, Business Manager; Jennie Pizzolato, co-Assistant Editor; Heidi Maxson, Melissa Honeywell, Lori Hower. Seated: Kara Hitchcock, Amy Ferris, Editor.

And where would we be without our advisor??? Miss Lipke had the awesome privilege of sponsoring the yearbook staff for another year. Without her hard work and dedication, the staff would have been in the hands of Amy and Lynn. (AAAAARRRRRRGGGGGHHHHH!) Seriously though, we want you to know, Miss Lipke, that you were very vital in putting this yearbook together, and we thank you for all your work.

Co-Assistant Editor, Jennie Pizzolato works on one of the many layouts that were drawn.

Before each deadline our area Walsworth representative, Greg Adams, would come and check over our pages that were to be sent in. He helped us correct our mistakes and was basically our overseer. And besides all this, he not only had a ROLEX but a GUCCI, a WALSWORTH, a GRUEN, and even a PIZZA HUT watch!!!!!! Thanks, Greg! (For the Rolex.)

EXCHANGE CHANGE

Coming to America for some people seems only a dream. It is easy to have misconceptions about America from what people see on T.V. or what they hear. Stefanie Reinke stated, "I thought all American schools were so cool, like what we saw on 'FAME'." Some of the aspects of the American way of life don't live up to aquired expectations, but some also exceed them. For four N.C. students, Yoshiro Kawano, Naoko Sekine, Junko Sasazaki and Stefanie Reinke, the dream of coming to the United States became a reality.

YOSHIRO (YOSHI) KAWANO, age 25, comes to us from Sakai-City, Osaka, Japan. He has one sister. One of the biggest differences between Japan and America was that "Japanese people are more perceptive of people's feelings without communicating as directly as Americans do. Americans are much more upfront and direct in expressing their true feelings." He said the hardest thing to learn about America was the language. After finishing high school, Yoshi would like to attend U.C.L.A.

It is 18 yr. old NAOKO SEKINE's 2nd year in the States. She has a younger brother and sister. Her family lives in Funabashi City, Chiba, Japan. The whole atmosphere of her previous schooling was different. "We just listened to a teacher in a class, and hardly ask any questions. It was very strict. One girl bleached her hair and got kicked out. I didn't mind the strict rules." Naoko misses her friends, family, & riding the bus, but she stated, "I would like to live later on in the U.S.A., but it is still only a dream."

WELCOME TO AMERICA!

STEFANIE REINKE, 19 yrs. old is from Scheer, West Germany. She has one younger brother, Helge. She arrived in America for the first time, August 15, 1988. She says the American people aren't as different as she thought they'd be. It was kind of a disappointment. "My illusions of America were too big. Now I think European countries have more culture and interests." Germany and America varied in that American food is s-o-o s-o-o sweet. Also, America is more of a 'Christian country' whereas most Europeans grow up without Christianity. When asked the philosophically deep question about what she liked most about America, she replied, "DR. PEPPER."

JUNKO SASAZAKI, age 16, has also been at N.C. for two years. There are five people in her family, and they live in Hatogaya, Saitama, Japan. Some differences Junko noticed comparing Japan and America was that Japanese people are more serious. She says Japanese teachers are very strict. American high school is more appealing to her, and American teachers are more friendly. (Bonus points for Junko?) The best part about America according to Junko is the freedom that we have.

Striving for The Mark

Being involved in sports is one of the more exciting extra-curricular activities at school. The meets and games provided a break from school. Students had a chance to vent their own physical skill in track, volleyball, basketball and football. Although not all of us had winning seasons, the attitudes, confidence and determination of the participants showed through, and encouraged them to keep "Striving for the Mark."

This was a very successful year for NC football. Many would say that a 5-4 record is a "winning" season or a good year. As a coach, I measure success by the growth in young men's lives and the character demonstrated and developed throughout the season.

I did not hear one hint of negative criticism about these young men. Comments like these were heard from the officials and coaches this season, "I always enjoy working with your kids." Another comment, "I didn't hear one negative comment from your kids all night long." "You have a fine group of young men, Coach." The coach of one of our opposing teams said, "Our kids always enjoy playing NC because they know it will be a clean game."

A thrill for me was to see one of our players appear to make tremendous strides in developing some of his weaknesses into strengths. To God be the Glory, because you see, at NC we did have a successful season.

Dennis Fling had a great season at the running back position. He averaged 5.6 yards per carry and 176 yards per game enroute to a record breaking season of 1,584 yards this year. The previous record was set in 1984 by Zane Dexter with 1,379 yards. Dennis finished the season as the 7th leading rusher in the state.

CONGRATULATIONS, DENNIS!!!!

Brian Swanson, Honorable mention all-conference; Dennis Fling, all-conference, Honorable mention all-state; Chad Jividen, all-conference; all three also received Honorable mention all-Heartland.

Junior varsity volleyball is always a growing experience, and this year was no exception. Throughout the season we all gained a lot of helpful playing time that will be rewarding in the seasons to come. We didn't have a winning record, but the lessons we learned and the fun times we had could never be replaced.

WHO'S THE NEW KID?

The people on this page started attending N.C. after school pictures were taken October 4. Second semester brought a new teacher, Mr. Virgil Wagner, to N.C. He teaches two new courses, Vocational Agriculture, and Money Management. Roy Niemoth, a freshman, came November 7. A junior, Trudi Johns came to N.C. November 14. April Ottun, also a junior, enrolled at N.C. October 31.

Jason and Doug Goertzen are brothers from Henderson. Jason is in the 8th grade, and Doug is a sophomore. Jason said something different about this school was that, "the people are nicer to me. I really like this school." Doug was thinking the same thing as he answered he liked this school because, "the people are friendly. I also like it because Drew and Marty are here!"

April Ottun is from Broken Bow, Ne. Her brother Phil attends N.C., and she started here in October. When asked why she chose to come to N.C., she said, "I wanted to come here so I could meet more Christian teens. I also wanted to come to learn more about the Lord and His Word. I wanted to get a Christian education."

Roy Niemoth is a freshman from Wood River, Ne. He decided to come to N.C. because he thought it'd be better to get a Christian education. "I'm glad I came," he said. "It's a change from my old school, and the kids are nicer."

A junior, Trudi Johns is from Fremont. She said the people that have influenced her the most are, "Jason, Laurie and April because they helped me through the hard times. I am glad I came here because I got to meet a lot of friendly people and learn more about God."

Q: What do you do in the summer time for fun?

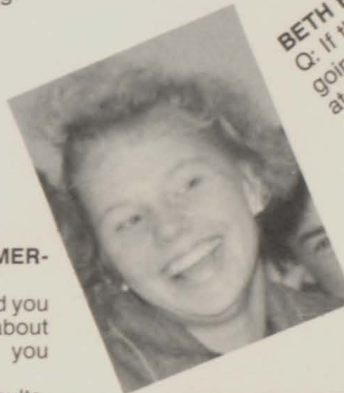

A: "I rodeo at home. I do a lot of roping and steer wrestling."

JULIE KREMER-JR.

Q: What would you change about yourself if you could?

A: "I see no faults. Why change a good thing? Just kidding."

BETH BOKELMAN-SOPH.

Q: If there was no controversy about girls going out for football, and it was allowed at N.C., would you go out?
A: "Yes, because I think it'd be fun. It would be something different."

TAMMY WOLFENDEN-JR.

Q: Do you think city people are weird? Or do you think you ranchers are different?

A: "We're different. We're just not normal."

JASON URWILER-SO.

Q: What other sports do you wish N.C. had?

A: "Wrestling"

BRIAN POLAND-JR.

Q: So what do you have to say about the new president?

A: "I think he's a really on-the-ball president. I think we will get a lot of progress from George Bush."

ANGELA HOPKINS-JR.

Q: What is your favorite holiday?

A: "I think it'd be Christmas because we celebrate Christ's birthday and spend time with family."

BRIAN SWANSON-SR.-

Q: Would you rather have a four day school week instead of the five day week?

A: "No, I'd rather have the five day week."

DOUG MCHARGUE-SO.

Q: So how does it feel to be an uncle?

A: "Older and wiser!"

CHERYL DOCKWEILER-JR.

Q: What do you think about having male cheerleaders at N.C.?

A: "It would be interesting. Yah, It would be fun!"

JASON BECK-JR.

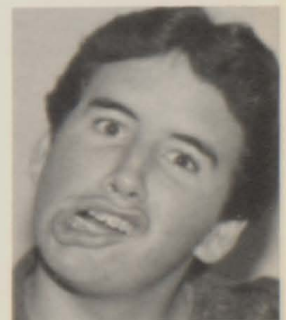

Q: How do you always stay so happy?

A: "I have the joy of the Lord. We're only going to be teenagers once, so we might as well make the best of it."

KEVIN BOWERMAN-JR.

Q: If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?

A: "God only made a few people perfect, and I just happen to be one of them."
